CRD 290 001 SQ 2023

This is a one-credit lecture series which for Spring 2023 will showcase the thesis and project work of second-year students in the Community Development Graduate Group.

We meet every Wednesday 12:10-1 in 166 Hunt Hall. Faculty and community members are invited to attend as well as students enrolled in the course. Please plan to arrive on time, as this is courteous to our speakers.

For those taking CRD 290 for credit, attendance will be taken at the beginning of each session. If you must miss a session, please let the instructor know in advance. Those who miss more than two sessions without advance warning will not receive credit.

There is one written requirement for the course: a two-page, double-spaced paper due by 11:59 PM 6/12/23 reflecting on a theme that struck you during the presentations and mentioning at least five of the speakers.
